

The Perio Protect Method

A dentist prescribed home delivery method of treating gingivitis and periodontitis.
This is a solution for your perio patients that REALLY WORKS.

The advantages of this system:

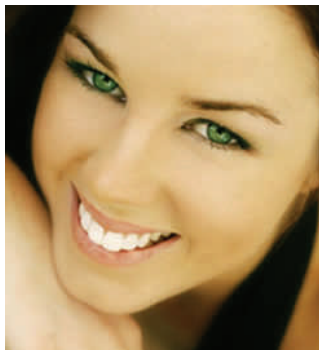

- Easy, effective and PAINLESS.
- Staff directed under your supervision
 - No new equipment or personnel
- New homecare system
 - So the disease does not return
- Excellent patient compliance
 - Because they feel it working
- Insurance coverage
- Stops tissue destruction and promotes healing
- MAJOR source of recurring revenue for your practice

It is now possible to deliver antimicrobial medications right to the source of periodontal infection.

How it Works...

Briefly, the method is a custom tray prescribed by you, made by a lab registered with the FDA. The tray has a special patented seal that directs antimicrobial agents into the gingival sulcus and the method maintains the medications there long enough to kill the bacteria. The frequency and duration of usage are modified as the medications kill the cause of the disease and the host heals. The medications modify the biofilm so the patient continues to use the method daily along with brushing and flossing as part of a new homecare routine. The disease does not return.

Patients love this option!

Research, Research, Research

There are literally hundreds of research articles that demonstrate the efficacy and reliability of medications that can be used with this method. We present 64 of these research articles in our seminar and certification manual. Presently there are over 250 doctors certified to offer this treatment option to their patients. Patients and doctors are pleased with the results: periodontal disease is gone. Some of their comments are presented for you at <http://www.perioprotect.com/testimonials.asp>.

Finally, an in-office solution for treating periodontal disease.

"In my thirty-five years of dentistry, I have never seen anything like this for treating periodontal disease. It does the same for perio that fluoride does for cavities."
